

Major new research finds Dental Mammoth a superior resource of information for dental students

More than 80% of dental students found Dental Mammoth an invaluable resource in their daily practice. A significant percentage (86%) of the participants felt that Dental Mammoth as a resource, would also benefit dental practitioners outside the academic sphere, in the clinical work environment itself.

Close to 95% of participants felt that Dental Mammoth service should be integrated into existing academic environments, and that they considered Dental Mammoth's content to be of a high quality and very user friendly.

Four hundred and ten students participated in the survey conducted in the spring of 2021 in India; KLE Society Dental College (Bengaluru), Kothiwal Dental College (Moradabad) and Sinhgad Dental College (Pune).
